

Siege ends after 28 hours

Local man charged with two counts of attempted murder

By ELIZABETH CHURCH
Staff Reporter

Local Ontario Provincial Police officers are continuing their investigation at the house where, last week, a Haliburton man held police at bay for over 28 hours. Constable Wim Magee from the Minden detachment, along with Detective Inspector Browning from Toronto are searching for additional information in connection with the armed hold out which ended late last Thursday afternoon. The house, located on the outskirts of the village of Haliburton, is presently under police guard.

The incident began at approximately noon last Wednesday when two police officers knocked on the door of the Haliburton home and a man appeared brandishing a gun. The officers, who were attempting to arrest the man on a mental health warrant after he failed to show up for treatment at the Queen Street Centre, escaped unharmed and contacted the Minden office to request back up forces.

Upon receiving the call, all available officers were sent to the site. The proceedings of the local court, in progress at the time, were halted and OPP officers from there were also called to the scene.

Police set up road blocks on County Road 1 and cordoned off the area from Haliburton Hospital to Highway 121. Traffic was diverted through the hospital parking lot and the grounds of J. Douglas Hodgson Elementary School and Haliburton Highlands Secondary School.

A team of negotiators, led by Corporal Ron Foran, attempted to make contact with the armed man, identified by police as Paul Crofts, 44. Because the house does not have a phone, police were forced to talk with the man through megaphones. Messages were also sent over the police radio and were amplified through two loudspeakers on the hood of the abandoned cruiser outside the home. In this way, police were able to hide the exact location of the negotiator from Crofts.

During the afternoon, auxiliary forces arrived from nearby detachments. The policemen, wearing bullet-proof vests, set up a command post at the home of Roy Neville, two houses away from the house where Crofts was held up.

At approximately 4 p.m., a special tactics and rescue unit, known as the TRUE team, arrived from North Bay. The men, dressed in khaki uniforms, with their faces streaked with grease paint for camouflage, quickly moved in and surrounded the house. By this time, the road blocks and the presence of a large number of police cruisers in the area had also caused a large crowd of onlookers to gather on the hill in front of the senior elementary school.

Following further attempts to communicate with Crofts, police began to fire tear gas into the house in an attempt to force Crofts to surrender. The first shot sounded shortly after 8 p.m., and was followed by seven more shots fired within the next hour. At 8:54 the firing began again as police let off seven successive shots. In total, police fired 14 canisters of tear gas into the house, but were unable to bring the siege to a conclusion.

Shortly after 10 p.m., police called off the roadblocks, stating that the house was completely surrounded and secured.

After an uneventful night, police tried to rush the door of the house at 5:20 on Thursday morning. Shots

Rockhounds gather at Wilberforce

The Wilberforce Rockhound Fair gets off the ground on Friday evening, August 17 and runs through Saturday and Sunday. During the three day event, mineral collectors, gem cutters and jewellery makers from across Ontario and the United States will be on hand to exhibit their wares at the Monmouth Township Arena. There will also be a special identification booth where rockhounds may have their own specimens identified by Dr. Donald H. Gorman, a Professor of Geology at the University of Toronto.

In addition to the exhibits, mineral collecting field trips will be conducted by organizers of the event. The trips will begin at the Curling Club in Wilberforce and will leave at 10 a.m. on both Saturday and Sunday.

Rockhounding is the fastest growing hobby in the world and is second only to stamp collecting in the number of people that it has attracted. The hobby is especially popular in Haliburton County, one of the best places in the world for rockhounding because of extensive variety of minerals exposed on the surface of the areas glacial outcroppings.

Ken Binskin, co-ordinator of the show noted that the past year has been an exceptionally good one for local rockhounds due to the re-routing of part of the Essoville line and the consequent blasting which exposed some "really fine mineral specimens". Ten minutes after the first blast every rockhound in the vicinity was headed in the same direction," he said.

Last year's show drew a large crowd of enthusiasts, and this years attendance figures are expected to climb even higher as mineral collectors gather to compare notes and learn more about their own collections.

After speaking to local Conservatives gathered at Kinmount Fairgrounds, party leader Brian Mulroney took a few moments to mingle with the crowd of enthusiastic supporters. Mulroney was accompanied on his visit by his wife Mila and their son.

Mulroney visits local Tory rally

Kinmount played host to Progressive Conservative Leader Brian Mulroney last Sunday at the annual riding association beef on a bun barbecue. Mulroney, campaigning throughout Ontario this week, came to Kinmount to encourage local Conservatives to continue their support for Victoria Haliburton member of Parliament Bill Scott. Over 2,000 people came to the fair grounds in Kinmount to get a glimpse of the Tory leader and hear him speak in person.

During a brief ten minute address to the crowd of loyal party followers, Mulroney stressed his commitment to the elderly, an issue of special concern to Haliburton, the county with the highest percentage of senior citizens in Ontario.

Mulroney took the opportunity to criticize once again the Liberal patronage appointments. He made reference to Prime Minister John Turner's willingness to comply with Pierre Trudeau's instructions, said the recent appointments will cost Canadian taxpayers $84,400,000, enough to give pensioners a $70 Christmas bonus.

Attention was also given to the plight of small businessmen and farmers in today's economy. Mulroney, who despite the objections of some campaign organizers, rode into the Kinmount fair grounds with Bill Scott in a horse driven wagon, appealed to the crowds by making reference to his youth when he drove horses to deliver milk in Baie-Comeau. He promised that a Tory government would remove the five percent tax on farm fuel as a way of easing the financial burden placed on farmers.

Mulroney also repeated a message which has become a central theme of his campaign, stating that the coming election is an election for change. He announced that it is a time for renewal in this country. "It's time to get rid of the old ways and old habits," he said.

Although he did not refer specifically to interest rates or inflation, Mulroney did poke fun at Canada's sagging dollar, saying he was concerned when he was recently told by a doctor that he was "as fit as a dollar".

In another attack on the Liberal patronage appointments, Mulroney said a Conservative government "would not indulge in the kind of actions that Mr. Turner has with his friends." His remark that the most recent federally sponsored lottery had a grand prize of a trip to Rome, won by former Minister of Agriculture Eugene Whelan, drew laughter from the Conservative crowd.

Following his address, Mulroney accompanied by his wife Mila, took a few moments to shake hands and mingle with local Tory supporters before waving good-bye and boarding one of three party buses for Peterborough, the next stop on the campaign trail.

AH&M Council halts housing project

By ELIZABETH CHURCH
Staff Reporter

Anson, Hindon and Minden council have cancelled plans for the construction of a subsidized housing unit in Highland Gate Estates. The decision, made at a council meeting last Thursday, follows protests from residents of the subdivision who feared the project would decrease the value of their property and objected to the manner in which the federally sponsored program is being implemented.

In a letter to the editor, published in last week's edition of the Echo, residents said it would cost the Central Mortgage and Housing Corporation, the federal body that administers the housing project, more than $81,000 to build a house in Highland Gate Estates that is compatible with the established character of the subdivision. Referring to the proposal as "ludicrous", the residents recommended that CMHC purchase a modestly priced resale unit in the municipality or build a more modest house on a more reasonably priced lot.

Deputy Reeve Ed Pergolas said that although council will not accept the offer made by CMHC on the municipally owned lot in the subdivision, they are not about to give up on the project. "There are other sites available. The Highland Gate issue is an unfortunate situation that got out of hand," he said.

Pergolas explained that the municipality received the lot in question with the understanding that services would be provided to the subdivision once it was sold. Despite their agreement, he said the municipality has also attempted to comply with the wishes of the developer when looking for a potential buyer for the property. "We try and work with the developer on his criteria," he said. Pergolas indicated, however, that in this instance the group of residents contacted council before they had discussed the matter with the developer. "The developer has now said the proposal does not fit his criteria," Pergolas said.

Brendan Berube, who has acted as the spokesman for the residents of the subdivision in this matter, said that he was not aware that council had decided not to accept CMHC's offer. "We're not snobs," said Berube. "We feel the way CMHC is implementing the pro-

General Occurrences

During the period of August 6 to 12, personnel at Minden Detachment investigated the following occurrences: 19 motor vehicle accidents resulting in 16 injuries, and 95 general occurrences, including 14 thefts, 10 break and enters and five impaired drivers.

Adrift

On August 11 at about 8:00 p.m., a small yellow dinghy was noticed drifting above the dam at Eagle Lake. Inside the boat was an unconscious youth, Charles Tedford, 21, of Eagle Lake. Persons in the area had noticed the dinghy drifting for a long period of time, but had thought it to be empty. The man was taken to Haliburton Hospital and then transferred to Peterborough Civic Hospital. The reason for his unconscious state was not determined but he has since revived and is reported to be out of danger.

Thefts

A large number of thefts were reported in the vicinity of the Highway 35 corridor:

A sea flea boat, valued at $200, was removed from in front of the Prentice-Berry Limited agency in Lutterworth Township.

A gas tank and a set of oars went missing from a cottage on the Gull River in Anson Township.

A $3,200 boat and motor was stolen from a cottage lot on the Gull River at the end of Hunter Creek Road in Lutterworth Township.

On South Lake, in Snowdon Township, an aluminum boat and 3.6 horsepower outboard motor were removed from the shoreline. The two are valued at $1,200.

At Big Hawk Landing, in Stanhope Township, a total of eight outboard motors, valued at more than $1,000 were stolen. Most were older models accounting for the low value.

Camper hurt

On Thursday, August 9 a 10 year old Toronto boy received a wound to his left eye at Camp Northland on Moose Lake in Guilford Township. Ari Goldkind was struck by a pellet from an airgun fired by a 17 year old counsellor who thought the gun was empty. He had apparently fired it several times without any projectiles leaving the gun. Goldkind was taken to Haliburton Hospital and then transferred to Toronto's Hospital for Sick Children.

Accidents

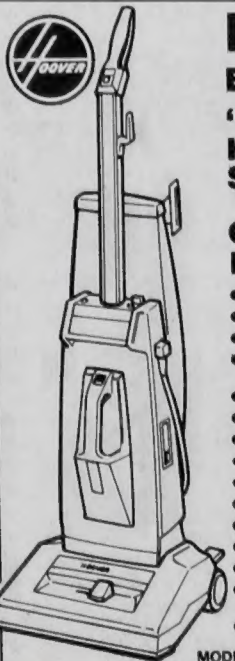

None of the 16 injuries received throughout the county appears too serious. Most involved visitors from out of the county. Following is a synopsis of a few:

On August 6 on County Road 1, in Snowdon Township, at 2:30 p.m., Benjamin Henderson, age 22, of Toronto, lost control of his 1979 Mercury on a curve, and skidded into the ditch. Henderson and his passenger, Gail Ross, 25, of Toronto, received minor injuries.

On August 6 at 4:30 p.m. on Glamor Lake Road in Glamorgan Township, Ciro Pacilli, 37, of Toronto, came over a knoll and lost control of his 1980 Oldsmobile, which went into a ditch and rolled over. The driver and two passengers suffered minimal injuries. Damage to the vehicle was estimated at $4,000.

On August 8 at 8:00 a.m. on Highway 121 in Dysart Township, Robert Richards, 17, of Ops Township, drove his 1979 Chevrolet off the roadway and struck a telephone pole, resulting in an estimated $7,000 damage to the car, and $800 to the pole. The driver received minor injuries and was charged with careless driving.

OPP officers wounded in Haliburton armed hold out were exchanged and two OPP officers were injured.

Constable Charles Long, 28, and Constable David Lemieux, 27, both of the North Bay district tactics and rescue unit, were rushed to Peterborough Civic Hospital. Constable Long was shot in the neck and Constable Lemieux was wounded in the left hip and grazed on the back of the skull.

At approximately 11:30 on Thursday morning tear gas was again used by police, but once again it failed to force Crofts from the building.

Throughout the afternoon, police continued to talk with Crofts, expressing concern about his welfare and assuring him that the two policemen were not seriously wounded. At about 4:30 p.m. the man was spotted by the members of the rescue team, lying on his back on the floor near the sliding glass doors at the front of the house. No shots were fired as police quickly moved into the house.

Crofts was removed on a stretcher and was taken to Haliburton Hospital where he received emergency treatment for a bullet wound in his leg, received earlier in the morning when police first attempted to enter the house. Crofts was later transported by ambulance to Peterborough Civic Hospital. Currently he is receiving treatment at Toronto's Sunnybrook Hospital where he has been placed under guard.

Charges laid

The two policemen are presently reported to be in stable condition.

Crofts has been charged with two counts of attempted murder, possession of a dangerous weapon, and unlawfully pointing a firearm. Police said a court date has not yet been set, but reported that the trial will be held in Lindsay.

In June, 1973, Crofts was found not guilty by reason of insanity in the shooting death of a colleague at Control Data Canada Limited in Mississauga. As a result of the shooting he was sent to the Hospital for the Criminally Insane in Penetanguishene for an indefinite period of time.

Crofts was later judged eligible for outpatient treatment and ordered to continue treatment with doctors at the Queen Street Mental Health Centre in Toronto. Police are now investigating to find out the conditions under which Crofts was released from the facilities at Penetanguishene.

This Ontario Provincial Police officer is watching the house through binoculars from behind the shelter of his parked cruiser. Local forces were aided in the hold out by nearby detachments and special forces.

gram is irresponsible and we hope that they will see the light and purchase more reasonably priced existing houses or less expensive lots. We want to discourage CMHC from operating in our subdivision, but there is also the larger issue of how appropriately they are managing our tax dollar," he said.

The house that was proposed for the Highland Gate site is part of the Native and Rural Housing Program, run by CMHC. Under the provisions of the program, houses are sold to native or low income families with a mortgage subsidized by the federal agency. Under the guidelines of the program, houses may either be constructed specifically for the project by CMHC, or may be existing houses that are purchased by them for resale.

Reeve Lyle McKnight agreed with Pergolas' opinion that the developer should have control of the sale of the lot and the house constructed on it. "There's nothing stopping the municipality from selling the lot (to CMHC), but you must abide by the people's wishes, especially the developers," he said.

Now that the lot at Highland Gate has been ruled out as a possible building site, McKnight said the municipality, along with CMHC, will attempt to locate a home for sale that they can refurbish. "I think that we should try and fix up a house, it's cheaper," he said, but added that they will also continue to look for suitable lots. "We don't want the municipality to lose out on the house. We've all had our struggles. I think some people deserve a helping hand," he said.

Ontario Provincial Police officer Al Bibby was one of the many men from the Minden detachment who were called in early Wednesday afternoon. Here, Bibby tells a motorist at the roadblock how to get into town by way of an alternate route.

Children's centre plans to expand

Five Counties Children's Centre, a facility geared to help handicapped youngsters from the Peterborough, Lindsay and Haliburton area, is planning a 4,000 square foot expansion of its present building located on Dutton Road in Peterborough. This expansion will provide treatment office space equipped with audio equipment and one-way mirrors for four speech therapists, as well as additional storage space.

The expansion of the present building is necessary to accommodate the increase in staff in all departments. This increase is in response to the growing demand for therapy services for children from infancy to 19 years of age. In 1980 and 1981, 141 children were registered with the centre, while in 1983 and 1984, 460 children were registered with the centre. In addition, the centre also intends to provide increased therapy services to its outreach areas of Lindsay and Haliburton.

The estimated cost of the expansion is set at $300,000. An application has been made to the Ministry of Health for partial funding and the balance will be raised through private donations. The anticipated occupancy date is April 1, 1985.

Fair begins on Friday

The horse shows will also continue in the afternoon, with a light horse showing for performance and game classes at 1 p.m. and a heavy horse draw at 4 p.m.

Other livestock shows in the afternoon will include a cattle show at 1:30 and a sheep show at 2:00.

A special grandstand show, featuring live music is set to begin at 2 p.m.

The action on Saturday will conclude with a dance in the community centre. The doors will open at 9 p.m.

The fair grounds will open once again on Sunday morning, beginning at 9 a.m. A goat show at 10:30 a.m. and a light horse show at 1:00 are scheduled for this second full day of fair events. A dog show, along with a pony pull, a light horse draw and a heritage pull will help to round out the days events.

Haliburton County Fair's run and ride race, beginning at 2 p.m. is also expected to draw a crowd and a large field of competitors. In this event, participants will be required to test their skills on horseback and on foot.

The three day fair will conclude at 6 p.m. on Sunday night when the display buildings will close their doors to visitors.

OCAP positions planned

Sir Sandford Fleming College has been allocated over $1,500,000 for its Ontario Career Action Program for the 1984-85 school year.

OCAP, which is part of the provincial government's Ontario Youth Opportunities Initiatives, is designed for young people who are seeking their first job after leaving the educational system. It provides up to 16 weeks of on-the-job training to enable young people to compete more effectively in the labour market.

The province's Board of Industrial Leadership and Development allocated a total of $24,000,000 to the Ministry of Colleges and Universities for the continuation of OCAP's at Ontario's community colleges.

Sir Sandford Fleming College's allocation represents a maximum of 725 training positions. Last year, SSFC placed 679 applicants in OCAP training positions which ranked seventh among the 22 community colleges. Of these trainees, 73 percent secured employment, compared to the provincial average of 69 percent.

In Haliburton, the new allocations will result in the formation of 80 training positions in the coming year. According to Susan Little, OCAP co-ordinator for the Haliburton branch of Sir Sandford Fleming College, the provincially sponsored job training program has been very successful in Haliburton County. Last year, 75 percent of the students who enrolled in the program in Haliburton were successful. The OCAP success rate is based on the number of trainees who obtain a job or return to school for additional education when their work period is over.

Little explained that people with all levels of education are eligible for the Career Action Program. "We try and find a place suitable for each student and for the training they want," she said. "The program gives them an opportunity to prove themselves." Although employers who take in the students for the training period do not necessarily hire them following the training period, Little noted that the experience helps students to go on to secure future employment. "It gives them the courage to look for a job and even leave the community if necessary to find one," she said.

In addition to placing trainees in businesses throughout the county, Little also conducts a three day workshop in conjunction with the OCAP program. During the three days, Little helps new trainees determine what their interests are and what field of work is most suitable for them. As well, participants in the three day session are taught how to prepare for and act during a job interview. Each trainee is also given guidance in preparing a resume to present to prospective employers.

Last year in Sir Sandford Fleming College's total area, which includes Peterborough, Lindsay, Haliburton and Cobourg, a total of 554 OCAP trainees secured employment and 30 trainees returned to school.

Drinking drivers charged

An Ontario Provincial Police alert for drinking drivers this summer resulted in 1,210 persons being charged with drinking and driving offences in a 28-day period in July.

OPP officers stopped and checked more than 64,000 vehicles from July 2 to July 29. As well as alcohol-related criminal offences, 1,751 charges were laid under the provincial Liquor Licence Act as a result of stop-checks.

ALERT (Alcohol Level Evaluation Roadside Tester) devices are a key ingredient in the OPP's summer blitz. This portable machine measures the quantity of alcohol in a driver's body by breath analysis.

A "fail" reading on the ALERT results in the driver being taken for a formal breathalyzer examination.

A "warn" reading, which means a driver's blood-alcohol level is between 50 and 99 milligrams of alcohol per 100 millilitres of blood (50-99 milligrams), is sufficient grounds for a police officer to issue a 12-hour suspension. In the same 28-day period, 1,874 12-hour licence suspensions were ordered. The legal impairment level is 80 milligrams.

OPP Commissioner Archie Ferguson said, "We've had very positive results in one area where a 12-month controlled anti-drinking and driving program shows fatal accidents reduced by 36 per cent; alcohol was involved in 15 per cent of those accidents, as against 40 per cent in the same area in the previous 12 months."

Spot checks will be maintained for the remainder of the summer, with particular emphasis on the Civic Holiday and Labour Day weekends.

Commissioner Ferguson said that the provincial police will keep up a high level of enforcement because there is a definite correlation between the quality of enforcement and the extent to which drivers comply with the drinking and driving laws.

Brian Mulroney rode into Kinmount Fairgrounds last Sunday in a horse drawn wagon driven by local MP Bill Scott. Mulroney spoke briefly to the Tory crowd, and shook hands with well wishers before boarding the bus for his next stop in Peterborough.

What hope

If the prevailing mood among Canadians these days is one of frustration and negativity, there's good reason for it. In the past few years the country has been slipping ever deeper into a morass of high interest rates, business bankruptcies, unemployment and disaffection. With a huge deficit hanging over the country like a Damoclean sword, threatening to slice the fabric of the nation into a patchwork of anger and despair, Canada is a country in crisis. And if early indications are a sign of things to come, there's little likelihood that September's election will point the way to improvement. Liberal leader John Turner and Conservative leader Brian Mulroney want Canadians to believe that the country needs a new kind of leadership, but so far neither candidate for the prime ministership has shown the slightest indication that they are men of ideas or vision. Turner talks about restoring confidence in the nation, but offers no concrete suggestions about how that is to be done. Mulroney is running 'a promise a day' campaign, but when pressed to say what all these new schemes will cost, he ducks the issue with the lame excuse that his party doesn't have the benefit of a federal bureaucracy to work out such detailed items as where the money is to come from, or how much of it will be needed. Ed Broadbent speaks for a party with a carefully drafted program, and as a debater he overshadows the other two leaders, but the NDP will not form the next government.

Faced with a lack of real choice, voters may have to fall back on the unfortunate alternative of voting for one party or the other for emotional rather than intellectual reasons. If that happens, the best that anyone can hope for is that no party wins a clear majority, with the NDP holding the balance of power. That, at least, will make more constructive government a possibility.

Who asked for it?

One of the great non events of recent memory, Ontario's bicentennial celebration continues unabated. For the past several months, Ontarians have been bombarded with all manner of hype and nonsense about the province's 200th anniversary, all of it paid for by taxpayers and none of it needed or wanted. The bicentennial is nothing more than an exercise in self congratulation by a government that has been in power so long that it no longer cares about giving citizens value for the ever increasing tax grab.

The fact that nothing specific happened 200 years ago to mark Ontario's beginning could be forgiven if the bicentennial was a promotion likely to attract more tourists to Ontario than would otherwise have come. But very little has happened that would not have happened anyway. In Haliburton County, for example, there have been virtually no community celebrations taking place because Ontario is now 200 years old. The events that fill much of the summer around the county have been held for years because local people have always taken the initiative to organize them. This year, however, the provincial government has decided that it can make promotional and political hay out of the July and August sunshine by slipping the bicentennial logo and some bicentennial tax dollars into the local summer scene. No one is likely to be fooled by this, but on the other hand no one appears to be protesting it either. And that's unfortunate. Ontarians don't need to be told by the government that this is a place to be proud of. Ontarians don't need their tax dollars wasted on bicentennial flags, bicentennial buttons, bicentennial newsletters, a bicentennial bureaucracy. What the citizens of this province need is a government that spends dollars responsibly. And the bicentennial program clearly is not a sensible or constructive way to use the people's dollars.

Letters to the Editor

Reader praises local OPP

To The Editor:

It was a great shock to hear that two OPP officers had been shot in Haliburton, my second hometown. We are fortunate indeed to have OPP officers available all year long to help us and to protect our summer homes. We need them and now they and their families need us.

On July 2, 1975, my husband had a serious heart attack while we were staying at our cottage on Drag Lake. While my husband received excellent care at the hospital in Haliburton an OPP officer was available every day to take a blood sample to the hospital in Lindsay for analysis.

My family and I are very grateful to the officers of the Minden detachment. We wish the officers who are now in hospital a speedy recovery, and that they may return to work supported by the knowledge that the summer residents appreciate them and care about them.

To The Editor:

Why do the "smaller" communities in "the Highlands" put on the giant festivals and carnivals?

Look at Gooderham this past Civic Holiday weekend. A smashing success.

Is it because it was not a select group, but everyone in the area who assisted the well run committee? The old "barn raising" concept, West Gifford's "Canada Day" was another example.

Gooderham's "Horseshoe Days" was an entertaining three days. They brought in two fantastic bands, the horseshoe contest was competitive. "Jake, the three legged man" was back for the "umpteenth time", a hit with the kiddies (mommy and daddy too). The Burnt River canoe race and the demolition derby on Sunday was a "smashing" success.

The crowds for the three days showed Gooderham they appreciated their efforts.

I'll leave "your good reporting" to tell your readers the winners of the events and draws and I know your pictorial coverage will say it in pictures. I only want to speak for "us" who were there - "good show" Gooderham.

"Shall we stop the production of nuclear arms?" by C. Denholm.

Shall we or can we? We are held, at gun point, by the largest nuclear power in the world, Soviet Russia. The totalitarian leaders of this country have only one aim, to conquer the world and turn us all into slaves.

We can keep our defences up and pray for a democratic government in Russia or stop the production of nuclear arms unilaterally and lose our freedom.

Thanks to past errors and omissions by "progressive" decision makers, there is no other solution.

To The Editor:

Thank you very much for your excellent coverage of the KENNISIS Lake Regatta in the Wednesday, August 8 issue of the Haliburton County Echo. I have had many favourable comments concerning the article and pictures. Everyone, regardless of age, certainly seems to enjoy seeing themselves in print!

It certainly helps us summer residents to feel a part of the community when we see our activities written up with others in the Haliburton area.

Sincerely,

There is an old saying around these parts that goes something like this: when the Rotary Club's annual summer parade comes down the street in Haliburton on the first Wednesday of August each year, the tourist season is on the downhill slope. We don't know whether this is always true, but we do know that the 1984 Haliburton Rotary Carnival is now history. It's all over for another year and in summing up the results it was a fantastic success both financially and from a spectator's point of view. We could have stood a little more co-operation from the weatherman this year, as it rained all through the day of the parade, but we did have one break when the rain stopped just before the parade was ready to push off. All in all though, it was one of the better parades, which featured plenty of floats and marching units that were backed up with music from five bands. We were certainly surprised at the large crowds that turned out for each and every event. There was the usual large crowd for the parade on Wednesday evening and the biggest surprise of all was on Thursday night when hundreds showed up along the shore of Head Lake to take in a spectacular water show presented by the Labatt's Aquatic Ski Team.

The midway on Thursday evening was also a hive of activity as hundreds flocked to the fairgrounds for an evening of entertainment. Many of the people who viewed the water show told us that it was one of the best they had ever witnessed.

And who was it that said times were tough? The Minden Rotary Club report that they had a very good carnival financially and the same goes for the one at Haliburton. They say that people at both events were spending money as if it was going out of style. The Rotary Club of Haliburton also report that even the draw tickets, which were selling at $10 per ticket, sold out well in advance of the actual draw, which took place on Thursday night.

Signs that times are still good showed up again at Haliburton's fourth Midnight Madness Sale when a record number of people were on hand and the business places report a thriving business on that particular evening.

Well it's that time of the year once again and time for the 120th annual Haliburton County Fair which will be held in Minden this coming Friday, Saturday and Sunday, August 17, 18 and 19. In looking over the number of events that are listed on the programme this year's big event promises to be a good one. One of the highlights will be the parade and it's one that you won't want to miss. Bring along the entire family and have a good time at the Haliburton County Fair.

We are certainly amazed and impressed with the interest that the cottagers in Haliburton and surrounding area take in local affairs. This is a very healthy situation and their participation and ideas really go a long way in trying to push this county ahead. Many of the cottagers we have talked with seem to be quite pleased with the area and would like to help in any way to see that it keeps on progressing.

Bernie Nicholls is not only a good hockey player, but he is also a very good ball player. I watched him in action playing first base in a game played at the Haliburton ball park last Thursday evening. He is what you might call a good all round ball player. He can pitch; he is a good infielder and he can really bang out those home runs whenever they are needed. He is one of the strongest hitters to appear at the local park for some time.

Len Pearsell and George Hutchings are to be commended on the fine job they are doing at the dump at Haliburton. When people bring garbage into the dump it's up to these men to see that it is placed in the right area and is not left to be blown all about. If garbage happens to be placed in the wrong area or if a bag drops off a vehicle by mistake it's up to them to clean it up. This job certainly has its drawbacks but these two men can seem to cope with any problems that might arise.

Rotary District Governor, Euclid Forgues, paid his annual visit to the Rotary Club of Haliburton recently. He was introduced to the club members by Past District Governor, Harold Herlihey. His address centred on the future goals of Rotary within the club as well as internationally.

We are heading into the home stretch as far as the tourist season is concerned. The Canadian National Exhibition is underway and business has dropped off slightly compared with the last two weeks in July.

During and after Midnight Madness, which was held in Haliburton recently, many people have stopped me and asked about the members of the Highlands Dixie Band which played on the main street on this occasion. We are pleased at this time to be able to provide you with a list of the names of the band members: Rick Vaughan, Ken Hadley, Glen Carter, John Miller, Bill Donnelly, Charlie Hadley, Charles Brandon and Dr. Gerry Levine. The boys in the band did a fine job and everyone that evening thoroughly enjoyed listening to their music.

Pic of the Past

Our thanks go out this week to Frank Howe of West Guilford, Ontario for submitting this photo which was taken in the year 1921 when the lumbering industry was booming in Haliburton County. This picture was taken at Ritchie's Lake, which is just above Drag Lake at Malloy Brien's camp. Ira Howe of Haliburton was the foreman at that time at the camp. Barney Howe is shown on the top of the load of logs driving his team of horses, while Sam Congdon of Lochlin, with shovel in hand, looks on.

From the Chamber

While you are vacationing in the Highlands, take time to visit points of interest.

The Dorset observation tower has an observation area which is 100 feet high and sits 365 feet above Trading Lake and Lake of Bays. The view is also excellent from the park surrounding it and picnic tables, fireplaces, washrooms and drinking water are available.

The Hawk River Rapids and log chute, miles of rapids stretching from Big Hawk Lake to Hall's Lake that carried the logs downstream in years gone by, still stands under torrents of water.

Buttermilk Falls is famous for its beauty and a popular picnic spot with travellers. Here Halls Lake takes a 70 foot plunge over the rocks to Boshkung Lake below.

The Buckslide Rapids are another picturesque scene where the water drops from Boshkung into Kushog Lake.

The Kanawa International Museum of Canoes and Kayaks houses the finest collection of canoes and kayaks in the world with over 350 specimens, new and old. It is open from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. daily from May to October. Admission is $2 for adults and $1 for seniors and students under 18.

The Haliburton steam locomotive in Haliburton village is a relic of the steam age that was built in 1911 and is a favourite which children and adults.

Skyline Park, off Highway 121 just east of Haliburton, provides a vantage point overlooking the village and affords a spectacular view of many miles to the north.

At the Minden Wild Water Preserve, the Horseshoe Rapids create on the best wild water kayak runs in North America.

Bethel Church, the historic old log church also known as the "Church in the Wild Wood" is no longer used for regular church services, but is an excellent example of an early pioneer house of worship. It was built in 1891.

St. Peter's Church was built in 1905 by John Henry Billings, who also built a classic home on Blagdon Hill. Both the church and his home were built with the exacting details of a well schooled English stone mason.

The Clergy House in Minden is an excellent example of early construction. It was originally built in 1853 as a logging outpost, and is the oldest standing log home in the county. It is not open to the public.

The Pioneer Log School House which is an information centre located in the Municipality of Cardiff is open during the summer months.

Why not take back a reminder of your holiday in Haliburton County? The Chamber has a supply of the following:

Haliburton Commemorative Trade Dollars carry a likeness of Chief Justice Thomas Chandler Haliburton after whom the county was named. He was first chairman of the Canadian Land and Emigration Co., the company that opened up the Highlands to British settlers. He was best known as the author who created the whimsical Yankee clockmaker, "Sam Slick" through whom he expressed satire and pungent humour. The reverse side of the coin carries the county crest which is derived from the coat of arms of the Haliburton family. The coins sell for $1 and are dated 1983. Collectors take note.

"In Quest of Yesterday", by Nila Reynolds, is a fascinating account of Haliburton's early days. This book was published by Haliburton County, and is a proud tribute to the people who settled this magnificent land.

"Tales of the Trails", by Theo Peacock, the Haliburton trapper, a book of woodland poetry, was the Centennial year project of the Townships of Glamorgan.

Don't forget the Haliburton County Fair to be held at the Minden fairgrounds August 17, 18 and 19. The parade begins at 12 noon on Saturday, the 18th.

Question

By CATHERINE DENHOLM

Do we need universal day care?

In 1926, before there was much talk about day care centres, Bertrand Russell wrote "The nursery school, if it became universal, could in one generation remove the profound differences in education which at present divide the classes, could produce a population all enjoying the mental and physical development which is now confined to the most fortunate, and could remove the terrible dead-weight of disease, stupidity and malevolence which now makes progress so difficult."

Another country and another era, but just suppose we did have universal day care in Canada. Just suppose there were enough day care places for every child where parents worked outside the home, for the children of single parents and for the children of parents where one parent stayed at home but needed a change once in a while.

Not compulsory day care for all children but for every day that any child needed it.

And let's make the picture better - these centres are good. There is music. There are games. There are trips to art galleries, museums, parks. There are children's shows and puppets and skating and running. There are stories that make them eager to listen. The children are cuddled and treated with respect. They are comfortable, clean and happy.

I hear someone saying that if this ever happened mothers and fathers would shirk their duties and dump their kids to be brought up at the tax payers' expense.

Look around. Most parents love their children. Most parents want the best life possible for their children. Lots of parents want what is best but do not know much about raising a family. Lots of parents are too troubled by finances, by stress, by overwork or unemployment to do a good job as parents. Lots of parents would be far better parents if they had some help.

Costly, yes, but in many ways we are paying for it already.

The children who are disadvantaged are more likely to drop out of school. We pay for the things they vandalize. We pay for their car accidents, for the muggings, for the break-ins, for the thefts. We pay for their keep in detention homes and jails. Finally, because they cannot hold a job, we pay for the welfare payments they need for themselves and their children.

Would it take more than one generation to make a change?

Federation of Ontario Naturalists

By ARLIN HACKMAN

Each year, the Federal-Provincial Wildlife Conference gives individuals from government wildlife agencies and private conservation organizations a much-needed opportunity to exchange information, discuss priorities for action and evaluate past efforts. The 48th such meeting, with a theme of "Team Work in Wildlife Management" took place earlier this summer in Timmins, Ontario. As delegates learned, there are some real success stories in rehabilitating wildlife species threatened with extinction, which demonstrate that team work is really taking place.

The swift fox, a shy, house cat sized native of the great plains, is making a comeback. Extinct in Canada since the 1930's, the greyish, bushy-tailed animal, which can outrun a jack rabbit, has been re-introduced to its former range in Alberta.

Despite the shooting death of the only breeding Peregrine Falcon in Ontario in 20 years, the Federal-Provincial re-introduction program appears to be working. These lightning-fast raptors are returning to release sites in various locations across Canada, including Toronto, and successfully nested this summer in Montreal.

Wild Turkeys re-introduced to Ontario in March, 1984, have quickly settled down to breed, with as many as 12 eggs being spotted in one nest. Signals from radio collars allow continuous discreet monitoring of these majestic birds.

Sea Otters were wiped out in Canada by early 20th century. But their numbers are recovering beautifully, following a re-introduction program on the west coast of Vancouver Island some 15 years ago. Estimated to number only 70 in 1977, the total population is now thought to number 350. The otter is still on Canada's Endangered Species list but hopefully not for long.

The Wood Bison had all but disappeared by 1900. And efforts to build up the plains-dwelling sub-species since that time, have kept the survival of this larger, darker boreal forest relative in jeopardy, due to hybridization. But since 1958, re-location and careful management have swelled the numbers of Wood Bison from 200 to 1300. Ironically, no pure stock remains in the national park which took its name from this great animal.

The Whooping Crane tops them all. Less than 15 remained only two decades ago when efforts were launched to save this giant migratory bird. This year more than 140 have been counted. Further, wildlife managers are enlisting Sandhill Cranes in Idaho to hatch and rear young Whoopers in the hopes of developing new breeding and wintering sites, lessening the vulnerability of the entire population to a single catastrophe in its Alberta and Texas homes.

Taken altogether, these achievements are a real testament to the skill and cooperation of an incredible range of organizations and individuals. Some of our interventions in nature are beneficial.

Haliburton Lumber leads in regular season games

With only two games left in regular season action, the team from Haliburton Lumber are on top in the standings, followed by the Kinsmen. The real contest, however, is between Beachli Construction and Curry Motors. Currently, the Beachli team is in third spot, but Curry Motors could overtake them with a win next Tuesday night.

In this week's fastball action, Haliburton Lumber blanked the Kinsmen 3-0 while Curry Motors downed Beachli Construction 13 to 8. On Thursday, the first game was awarded to the Kinsmen by default when the team from Beachli Construction were unable to round up enough players. Also on Thursday night, Curry Motors defeated the Lumbermen 6 to 3.

In the first game of the week, Haliburton Lumber got on the scoreboard early, racking up two runs against the Kinsmen in the top of the opening inning.

Tran LaRue started off the inning for the Lumbermen with a triple bagger. Bernie Nicholls brought in LaRue with an RBI single and later advanced to score the second run.

It was three up, three down for the Kinsmen in the bottom of the first inning. In the third inning, neither team was able to get a man on first.

In the third inning, the Lumbermen had one base hit from LaRue and put a second man on base when Barry Shaw walked Dwight Sisson, but both runners were stranded on base at the end of the inning.

In the bottom of the third, the Kinsmen were once again unable to put a man on base.

The fourth inning saw one hit by Phil Smith for Haliburton Lumber, but no points. In the bottom of the inning the Kinsmen got a man to first, but were also unable to bring him in across the plate.

Pitching continued to be strong in the fifth inning, as both pitchers gave up only one base hit each.

The score remained at 2 to 0 through the sixth. Although the Kinsmen were able to contain the Lumbermen at two runs, they were unable to come up with any points when it was their turn at the plate.

In the seventh inning, Haliburton Lumber managed to capitalize on some costly errors by the Kinsmen and scored their third run. In the bottom of that inning the Kinsmen did not get a man on base. The final score remained at 3 to 0.

Unlike the first game of the week, the second game of the evening, between Curry Motors and Beachli Construction, was a high scoring match.

The team from Beachli took an early lead, as both Bob Johnson and Mike MacNaull made it home in the top of the first inning.

In the bottom of the first, Curry Motors failed to put a man on base, but were also able to retire the Beachli team with three strike outs in the top of the second inning.

In the bottom of the second, Curry Motors took the lead, bringing in three men

Dixie Lee matches last year's record

By JIM MILNE

Dixie Lee fought Parry Sound to a satisfying one-all tie in Minden soccer action last Sunday. Parry Sound is probably the second best team in the league, but the home team preserved their modest three game undefeated streak.

Haliburton opened the scoring midway through the first half on a goal scored by Ivor Thompson. Dixie Lee took a corner kick but as Parry Sound attempted to clear the ball one of their players called out, "I've got it." An indirect kick was awarded and Parry Sound lined up on the goal line.

After the kick, a Parry Sound player kicked at a high ball in the crowd and was charged with a dangerous kick. The entire sequence of indirect kicks illustrated the pressure Dixie Lee was applying at the time and the firm control the referee maintained throughout the game.

Tim Davies took the last indirect kick and Ivor Thompson put the rebound into the net cleanly.

Parry Sound tied the game in the second half on another indirect kick awarded when a Haliburton player pushed an opponent. After a short pass, Parry Sound sent the ball over Haliburton's defensive wall into the far high corner of the net. It was a perfect shot.

Dixie Lee now has three wins and two ties, the same record as last year. The team now has a great opportunity to improve on last year's record. They meet Orillia City next Sunday in Orillia. A win might also send Dixie Lee into sixth place over Orillia, who defeated Dixie Lee last June.

Enthusiasm has been high over the last few games. Attendance at practices has been returning to early season numbers. Opponents at recent games have been unable to field full teams, but Dixie Lee has played the maximum allowed, including substitutes.

The team will practise in Minden on Thursday at 7:00 p.m. Casual players are welcome to scrimmage with us.

Gull River fishing derby draws anglers

Over 43 pounds of fish was caught last Saturday by avid fishermen at the first Minden Gull River International Rock Bass Fishing Derby. The derby, sponsored by the Minden Business Improvement Association, offered prizes to the participants with the ten largest catches according to weight.

The fishing began at 8 a.m. and ran until 4 p.m. and was restricted to the portion of the Gull River between Highway 35 and Minden's main street.

The derby, which organizers hope to make an annual event, was established as a way of depleting the growing number of rock bass who live in the Gull River and consume the food required by other species of fish, such as trout, that are more popular among anglers. As well, the rock bass, who have sharp, hard spikes on both their back and sides, have no natural predators and may therefore multiply unchecked. At the same time, the rock bass will feed on trout spawn, thereby decreasing their rate of reproduction.

Early this spring, the Minden BIA stocked the river with approximately $1,000 worth of rainbow trout in an attempt to attract an increased number of fishermen into the Minden area. The derby was held as a way to protect this investment.

Please turn to Page 7

Steven Stevens and Dave Allen tried their luck at catching rock bass last Saturday on the banks of the Gull River in Minden. The fishing derby was

Minden Seniors win in semi-final

Submitted

After finishing the regular season in first place, with a record of 16 wins and 3 losses, the Dixie Lee seniors continued on a high note by defeating the Minden juniors 2 games to none in the semi-finals last week.

In the first game, the seniors won 14 to 8. The seniors took a 5 to 2 lead after the second inning and never looked back. The juniors made a good attempt in the last inning by scoring four runs.

Andrea Burk took the loss for the juniors. Nelda Cully took the win, with relief help from Liz Baker. Irish Slavik was Dixie Lee's top batter, and she also scored three runs. Rhonda Wilson lead the juniors by scoring four of their eight runs.

In the second game the Dixie Lee seniors won 15 to 7. The seniors played very strong, defensively for three and a half innings, building up a 7 to nothing lead. The juniors then fought back to make the score 7 to 6.

The seniors settled down, and scored six runs in the seventh inning.

The seniors were led at the plate by Nelda Cully who made it to base five times. Sue Pye who scored four runs, and Laurie Brown-Wood who was four for four.

Nelda Cully was the winning pitcher and Andrea Burk was the losing pitcher.

across the plate. Barry Boice kicked off the rally with a single. Neilson Sisson continued the drive with another one bagger and Ron Perrin cleaned up the bases with a double RBI that brought both Boice and Sisson home. Perrin later made it across the plate to give Curry Motors a 3-2 lead.

Beachli Construction managed to recapture the lead in the top of the third, scoring four more runs in a single inning. Mike MacNaull started the scoring with a single that turned into a double as the result of an over throw by Curry Motors. Next up was Bernie Nicholls, who also hit a single. Tony Salvatori brought in both runners with an RBI double, however, he was only able to make it as far as third base. Kevin Finch also got on base with a single and went on to score the third run of the inning, while Roy Hewitt also crossed the plate to make it 6-3.

Curry Motors decreased Beachli's lead in the bottom of the inning with a home run by Wade Stamp.

Beachli Construction also scored a single run in the top of the fourth when Bob Johnston hit a double and was driven in by a double from the bat of Bernie Nicholls.

Curry Motors put on a strong drive in the bottom of the inning and overtook the Beachli team, scoring five runs. The action began when Kevin Sisson made it to first base on an error. Neilson Sisson followed with a single and Ron Perrin once again played clean up, driving in both runners to leave Beachli with a single point lead. The rally continued when Earl Bull drove in Perrin with a single and Ron Linklater brought Bull home with a triple.

Beachli Construction came up empty in the top of the fifth, but Curry Motors continued to rack up points, scoring four more runs when it was their turn at bat. Kevin Sisson started things off with a triple, and was brought in by Neilson Sisson on a sacrifice play. Ron Perrin advanced to first when he was hit by a wild pitch and Allan Cooper followed up with a single. Ron Linklater drove in both men with an RBI double and was later brought in by Wade Stamp.

In the sixth inning, Beachli Construction tried to close the gap, but were only able to increase their score by one. Bob Johnston, who walked to first base, was brought home by an RBI triple off the bat of Bernie Nicholls.

In the bottom of the sixth, Curry Motors were held at 13 runs, but Beachli Construction was unable to gain any more ground in the seventh inning. The final score remained at 13 to 8 for Curry Motors.

Curry Motors halved the Kinsmen 6 to 3 in the only game played on Thursday night. Curry Motors took an early lead in the bottom of the first inning, bringing in three runs. The inning opened with a walk for Barry Boice, followed by a base to Ron Linklater who was hit by a wild pitch. Wade Stamp drove in both runners with a double and went on to cross the plate himself to make the score 3 to 0.

The Lumbermen fought back in the top of the second, scoring one run as Rob Dennys came up with a double and made it home as a result of errors by the shortstop and the left fielder.

Curry Motors took a commanding lead in the bottom of the inning as Barry Boice made it to first on a fielder's choice, stole one base and was later brought across the plate by a single from Wade Stamp. Ron Linklater was walked to first and was driven in by Kevin Sisson.

In the third inning, the Lumbermen closed the gap by two runs, as David Nicholls hit a single and Bernie Nicholls drove his brother home with a home run.

Curry Motors also came up with a run in the bottom of the third as Neilson Sisson hit a single and Terry Gaspari knocked off a sacrifice hit to bring him home.

Despite efforts by both teams in the following innings, neither side was able to come up with any additional runs after the third inning. As a result, the final score remained 6 to 3 for Curry Motors.

REMEMBER THE 18¢ A GALLON INCREASE???

"The Liberal price hike will be less than half of what the Tories plan to inflict on you; we will negotiate an increase of less than 14 cents."

— Rt. Hon. Pierre Trudeau, February 12, 1980.

What actually happened?

- ✳ In 1980 gasoline prices rose by about 22 cents a gallon
- ✳ Since 1980 gasoline prices have risen by about $1.13 per gallon
- ✳ Since 1980 home heating fuel has risen by about 80¢ per gallon, in fact they have almost doubled
- ✳ Over 500,000 potential jobs were lost

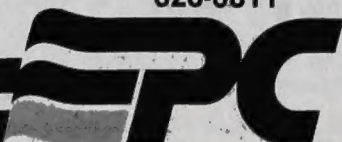

The energy sector should not be used as a source of revenue for the Federal government. A PROGRESSIVE CONSERVATIVE government will:

- ✳ Remove the 9% federal sales tax on gasoline and diesel fuel for all primary industries (farmers, fishermen, loggers, miners)
- ✳ Remove all refinery taxes from oil, gas or gas liquids used as feedstock to produce finished or semi-finished products for export
- ✳ Protect you, the consumer, from sudden price increases which may occur after the anticipated move of Canadian oil prices to the currently lower international levels

THE HALIBURTON COUNTY ECHO AND MINDEN RECORDER

Northern Lights

By VIRGINIA MUENZEL

Some of you may be aware that my famous mother-in-law has been visiting with us for a few weeks. We finally got around to taking her on a scenic tour. Of course, we had to take my favourite ride, to Dorset, and Robinson's General Store. It's not quite the magnificent splendour in August that it is in late September, when the leaves peak, but Mom was, never-the-less, impressed.

Mostly with Cranberry Lake, Pine Lake, Grass Lake, Maple Lake, Beech Lake, Boshkung Lake, Hall's Lake, Kushog Lake, and the fact that they all seemed to be connected. "You shouldn't ever run out water here," she said.

She was also quite awed with the cuts the highway made through the walls of beautiful rock. However, she staunchly refused to climb the lookout tower just to get a better view of the countryside. "You two go right ahead, I'll wait right here." But we didn't want to make her look bad, so we declined.

We then drove on to Dorset, and the store. Ed kidded his mom, saying she had to get into one of those motor boats and go across the river. "Not me!" After walking through the Emporium, and the Candlenut Shoppe, we asked the proprietor about a good spot for lunch. He directed us to an unimpressive looking place called the Hollow Valley Lodge and Tavern. We were not misled. Not only was lunch scrumptious, there was even lots of it. And we had to leave without partaking of the gooey spunding desserts. Then, well fortified, we tackled the general store.

If I ever win a lottery, I'm going to take at least two thousand of it and have me a spree at Robinson's. I love kitchen gadgets. And strangely enough, I'm into chicken kitchen gadgets just when they seem to be the fad. Also, sooner or later, my ancient Renfrew Chateau cookstove is bound to wear out. I can picture myself in sunglasses to protect my eyes from the reflection of the light off the empty-seven pounds of chrome plating on my new cookstove that looks like it will do ninety miles an hour in low gear. I wonder if all that shiny stuff makes the thing cook better.

After checking out the moccasins, and the heavy-duty socks and jackets, which mother thought must indicate the presence of Eskimos and igloos, we were on our way home. All in all, it was a lovely day. Mother catnapped on the way home. When she awoke, she raved on about the beauty of the Highlands, and how lucky we are to be able to live here all the time. But, on the other hand, she's glad she isn't here in the winter. Of course, she's never seen how lovely the snow looks on the evergreens.

Instructor Ann Marie Vanlieshout helps to support one of her younger students as he kicks on his back during the Red Cross swimming course. The courses are held each afternoon at Rotary Beach during the month of August.

Home Support News

By DONNA BAILEY

Dr. Miriam Hutton, Professor of Social Work at the University of Manitoba, was recently in our office to find out about Haliburton County Home Support Services.

Later she talked to me about the care-giving, to seniors in her province.

Since she lives in a city, one of the major differences is that home support type services are distributed through several different agencies.

Their Meals on Wheels is a separate volunteer service which can service two meals five to seven days a week.

She said that she had not heard of a Wheels to Meals to Manitobans. She felt that served a real need and would like to see Manitoba have it.

Transportation for seniors is generally provided through the inexpensive regular bus service and through a volunteer bureau such as Age and Opportunity. If transportation is needed for medical purposes, seniors might use the handicap taxi service paid out of Social Services or use the special bus services for the handicapped.

Names of home helpers can be given to seniors by the Age and Opportunity Bureau but generally seniors must make the contact and pay the person directly. Some home help is covered under home-care programs if the person is ill or of advanced age. There is no follow up for private home help, yet she feels this is very important to both the client and home helper. (We at Haliburton Home Support through our convenor can make all the arrangements if necessary and we do follow ups.)

Their Fone-a-Friend is run through a volunteer program.

The Age and Opportunity Bureau is one of several senior organizations; although run by professionals there is heavy senior involvement. They have a number of drop-in centres in the city. They have worked out an educational program in conjunction with the universities (lectures, tours, and live-in programs).

I asked Dr. Hutton for her thoughts about our Home Support Services. She said she was very impressed. She was impressed by the fact that one person recognized a need and got other people aware of the need and did something about it. She liked the enthusiasm of the people; the freshness of the offices and the Drop-In-Centre; the network of people throughout the county linking up; the active involvement of the seniors in the volunteer program and management of the organization; the fact that so much can be done by phone. She

In addition to physical renovations and improvements, the Drop-In Centre is in the process of organizing new programs and reviving old ones. To assist us in planning the programs, an Interested Persons and Volunteers meeting is scheduled for Wednesday, August 22 at 10 a.m. The objective of the meeting is to provide informative and social activities to the senior citizens of our community, during the coming year. Some of the activities that will be carried out are bridge, cribbage, euchre, a senior swim program at Locarno-on-the-Lake, coffee and craft morning, craft and hobby instruction, movies and workshops. Your suggestions for programs, courses and groups are very welcome.

The Emergency First Aid course for senior citizens will take place on Friday, August 17, from 9:00 a.m. to 4:00 p.m. Please bring your own lunch.

The 30,000 Island boat cruise in Midland is available for senior citizens. It will take place on Wednesday, September 19. The fee of $32 includes the bus trip to and from Midland, boat cruise, and dinner at the Highland Friendship Inn. For more information and reservations on the first aid course and boat cruise, please contact us at 457-2941 or 457-2171, or visit our office at the Haliburton County Home Support Services in the Drag River Municipal Building.

Silversmithing, the revival of an old craft

Lois Betteridge teaches a group of avid students at Haliburton's School of Fine Arts

By ELIZABETH CHURCH
Staff Reporter

While some strive to develop new technology and to increase automation, Lois Betteridge is dedicated to preserving a skill grounded firmly in the past. For 33 years, since Betteridge first discovered silversmithing as a fine art student, or as she puts it, it discovered her, she has focused her efforts on this demanding and rarely practised craft.

"The Industrial Revolution killed it," she explains. "There are very few practising silversmiths, especially in Canada," she says, but adds that there are some active in England, in Scandinavia and even as nearby as the United States.

In a world of increased mechanization, the silversmith is an endangered species. It is because of this that Betteridge is so enthusiastic about her students at Haliburton's School of Fine Arts. For her, they represent an opportunity to revive an increasingly neglected craft. "I want to develop a nucleus of silversmiths," she explains. Generally, Betteridge notes, silversmithing is only taught briefly as part of jewellery making courses. "This is the one place people can come and learn it," she says proudly.

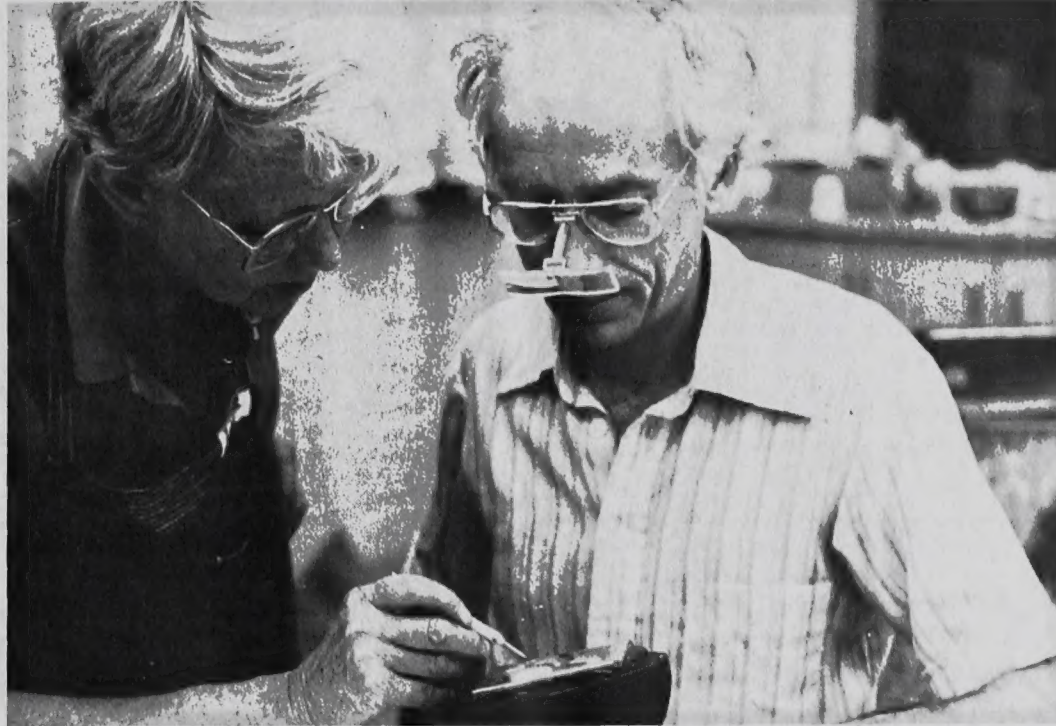

After touring Betteridge's classroom and watching her students at work, it becomes evident why silversmiths are so rare. "It's a labour intensive skill. It takes a keen interest to be willing to work at something like this," she says. "The techniques haven't changed since the Middle Ages. The tools have just become more refined."

Picking up a small silver bowl known as holloware to help illustrate her point, Betteridge explains how a flat disc is "raised" up into a bowl with delicate taps from a small, shiny hammer. "It takes a great deal of skill to develop the regular hammer marks so that a piece grows properly," she says. Too much or too little pressure on one side and the object will quickly become lopsided and lose its shape.

A labour intensive skill

In addition to a wide array of metal instruments, stumps of wood that have been hollowed out with chisels and sanded down so that they contain smooth, rounded holes are used by students to help mould their pieces of copper, silver or pewter.

The metal is also heated frequently to make it more malleable and more easy to shape, although unlike blacksmiths, silversmiths work on the metal while it is cold. Betteridge explains that copper plate is mounted on tar and is moulded with taps from a small hammer and chisel.

Lois Betteridge explains how to create the finishing touches on a work done by one of her students. The

when heat is applied to the metal the atoms which compose it stretch and move farther apart, making it more flexible. "The first thing I did with my students was have them stretch and shrink metal just to find out how much the material will give," she says.

After a piece of holloware has been raised up into its completed shape, it is then filled with tar. The tar gives the walls of the object more strength and enables the silversmith to finish and polish the outer surface without changing the shape of the piece. Betteridge notes that the finish of a piece is often decided by the type of metal that it is made from. While a rough exterior with the hammer marks still visible might be appropriate for a small, copper cylinder, she points out that a smooth and shiny finish is usually given to more expensive materials such as silver. In some instances, very fine tools are also used to make grooves and detailed patterns on the exterior of a finished work.

Although Betteridge says it takes a certain type of person to spend so much time making the delicate taps and working on the small details, she also adds that silversmithing can be quite relaxing. "It's very hypnotic. Each step seems to lead on to the next once you get into it," she observes. Since the work demands complete concentration, Betteridge also notes that it is hard to think or worry about anything else while you are working on a piece.

Betteridge and her students are not only exceptional because of what they are doing, they are also special because of the way they work with and feel about each other. "We're a very close group. I like to think we live with each other's warts," she says. Betteridge first began teaching at the School of Fine Arts four years ago. Most of her students have been with her since then, returning each year for two weeks to learn a bit more and meeting once a year for a class reunion. "We pretend we're discussing our work, but it's really just an excuse for us to get together," she says.

Betteridge explains that the yearly gatherings began after the first year that she conducted the course in Haliburton. At that time, one of her oldest and most talented students presented a silver baptismal cup that he had made with Betteridge's instruction to his church. "The whole class came to the dedication. We sat together in a section of the church," she remembers. "Now, getting together has become something we do every year."

Aside from these meetings of the entire class, Betteridge also takes time out from her own work throughout the year to help students individually with any problems they might have with their work. These meetings are not always easy, as Betteridge's students do not necessarily live close to her home. As a result, one of her students who lives in Winnipeg, resorted to making an impression of his work and sending it to her, along with a blank tape and a letter outlining his problems. "I recorded my advice on the tape and he played it back and made notes to refer to as he worked," she says.

"Getting together has become something we do every year"

Despite her obvious attachment to her students, for most of the year Betteridge is kept busy with her own work. She notes that a single piece, depending on the complexity and the detail, can take anywhere from 40 to 300 hours to complete. "It's a lot of mileage," she says, laughing.

Although Betteridge has spent the majority of her career as a silversmith making jewellery, the most profitable aspect of her craft, she explains that over the past few years she had devoted an increasing amount of time to making holloware. She points out that there is not a large market for handcrafted holloware. "A large appreciation for the quality of a handmade object has not developed in Canada," she says. Despite this she says she has a waiting list of people who want to commission her to make pieces for them.

After talking about her own work, however, Betteridge returns to the subject of her students. It is the last day of the two week course and they are busy getting ready for a farewell lunch party and doing the last sections of their work under her instruction. Betteridge explains to them how they should continue to finish their pieces after the class is over. "Most of them work throughout the year," she explains. "They're forever advancing. I don't need to be with them anymore at every stage."

Haliburton Highlights

by Creighton Feir

By CREIGHTON FEIR

The Rotary Club of Haliburton, who donate thousands of dollars each year to worthy causes, made two more donations last week, $400 for CGIT uniforms and $225 for the Drug/Alcohol Abuse group.

In the past, the streets in the village of Haliburton have been very busy during the month of July and a little quieter in August. After watching all the people and the heavy traffic in town over the past weekend it would appear that the month of August is going to be a big one. We couldn't ask for any better weather and it looks as if it is paying off.

It's still the same old story. The last thing that seems to be left to be done each summer in Haliburton is to have the weeds cut. In many parts of town they are a disgrace.

The Rotary Club of Haliburton will be paying their annual visit to Camp Illahee this Thursday evening, August 16.

Here are a few social notes from Haliburton. Mr. and Mrs. Doug Miller from Tyrone, Ontario were recent visitors to the village. Lorna Ramsay of North Bay, Ontario was a recent visitor here. Bob Pollard of the Canadian Imperial Bank of Commerce in Haliburton has returned to work following a two week vacation. Reverend and Mrs. John James and family have returned to their home here following a four week vacation in the Wilberforce area. Mr. and Mrs. Jack MacKay of London, Ontario have been vacationing in the area. Mr. and Mrs. Max Bird of St. Catharines, Ontario were recent visitors to Haliburton. Rick Bain was recently in Toronto on business. Mr. and Mrs. Jim Henry have returned to their home in Orangeville following a vacation at their cottage on Loon Lake. Mr. and Mrs. Keith Austin of Huntsville, Ontario were recent visitors to Haliburton. Mrs. Joyce Bain and her son Chad and Mrs. Carolyn Greenfield and her son Chris visited Canada's Wonderland at Maple, Ontario last Wednesday. Mr. and Mrs. Dennis Griffin of Scarborough, Ontario were visitors here last week.

We are pleased to see Pat Creelman back on the job following an operation on her back. Her many friends wish her a speedy recovery.

Three visitors from KinArk (formerly Brown-dale) were present at a recent meeting of the Rotary Club of Haliburton. John Miller introduced the speaker, Alan Vallillee, who explained their move to the Durham Region and presented the new Haliburton programme. This programme will commence in September, 1984 under the direction of Malcolm Savage with funds of $250,000.

Ruth Gorrie and Dorothy Thayer returned home recently from a trip to Europe. They visited Germany, Holland, Austria and other centres while working on an education course.

Decoration Day was held at Evergreen Cemetery in Haliburton last Sunday and a service was held at 2:00 p.m.

Once again we say hats off to the Haliburton

Horticultural Society who seem to be working day and night to keep all the flowers around town looking just lovely. It has sure made quite a difference to the community and they deserve a great deal of credit for their efforts.

A Pinch of Sand

By H. JEAN BROWN

There is a marvellous new liqueur, well not new to the States, down there is has been around for years, but certainly new to Canada. It is obtainable in Toronto stores. Ask your local outlet if they can get it for you. It is well worth the effort. It is a melon liqueur, Midori or Mikha are the best. It makes wonderful Stingers, Margueritas, Collins Alexanders, you name it. But it is in desserts that it really shines.

Midori Pie

4 egg yolks
¾ cup Midori*
1 pie shell
1 envelope gelatin
4 egg whites
1 cup whipped cream
½ cup sugar
½ cup sugar
In top of double boiler combine egg yolks, ½ cup sugar and gelatin, beat, stir in Midori* or any melon liqueur. Cook until mixture thickens slightly. Beat egg whites until frothy, add ¼ cup sugar until soft peaks are formed. Fold all together. Pour into shell, chill until firm, garnish with whipped cream (additional) and kiwi slices.

Mikha Melon Pudding

1 ¾ cups cold milk
whipping cream
¼ cup Mikha*
lime slices
1 small pkg. pistachio instant pudding
Combine milk and Mikha* or any melon liqueur in deep mixer bowl, sprinkle with pudding and whip until it starts to thicken. Pour into dessert dishes. Chill. Serve with dollop of whipped cream with thin lime slices or cherry or kumquat on top.

Melon Snowballs

Roll scoops of vanilla or pistachio ice cream in flaked coconut, freeze until serving time. Place each ball in dish. Pour 2 tbsps. melon liqueur over each serving, garnish with fruit of your choice.

THE HALIBURTON COUNTY ECHO AND MINDEN RECORDER

Minden News

By MAIZIE AUSTEN
There is a special program of music, games and fun, sponsored by the United, Anglican and Roman Catholic Churches of Minden. Children from the ages of 3 to 13 are invited to attend the ecumenical school this week, August 13 to 17, from 9 a.m. to noon at St. Paul's Anglican Church. There is no charge.

Don't forget there is roller skating every Monday, Wednesday and Friday evening at the Minden Arena from 7 to 10 p.m.

We wish a speedy recovery to Brian Hogg. We hope you are feeling better soon.

Hint for this week: Cucumber rinds, ground cloves, spices, cayenne pepper or powdered borax sprinkled around the infected area will get rid of ants. We were invaded the little ants that seem to be too small to get up into the holes of the ant traps. I used the ground cloves. It stopped the ants.

There will be movies at the library and cultural centre for the children on Thursday, August 16 from 7:15 to 8:15 p.m.

Happy birthday to Chris Austen.

Recipe for this week: Yum-Yums: 1 cup flour, 1/2 cup butter or margarine and 1 tablespoon brown sugar. Combine the above ingredients thoroughly and pack in a bake pan. 2 eggs, 1 1/2 cup brown sugar, 2 tablespoons flour, 1/2 teaspoon baking powder, 1/2 cup coconut and 1/2 to 1 cup chopped walnuts. Combine the last 6 ingredients and spread over the first mixture. Bake in a slow 325 to 350° oven until brown.

All rockhounds will be heading for Wilberforce August 17 to 19 for the Rockhound Fair. There will be exhibits, displays and a chance to swap gems and minerals. There are also field trips planned.

Don't forget the donkey baseball at the Minden fairgrounds on Tuesday, August 21.

Janice, Jack, Douglas and Karen Shaw of Minden and Bradley Robinson of Toronto spent a few days in London visiting friends and sight-seeing.

The Minden Agricultural Society would like to welcome everyone to the 120th Haliburton County Fair at the Minden Fair grounds August 17, 18 and 19. The Peanut Fest and Amateur Show will be held at the community centre at 8 p.m. August 17. The giant parade starts at 12 noon on Saturday, August 18. It will travel along the Main Street to the fair grounds. The midway, bingo, hospitality tent and exhibit building display will be open both Saturday and Sunday. There will be horse shows, cattle and sheep shows and a heavy horse pull on Saturday.

Both Saturday and Sunday will be full of things for the whole family. There will be a heritage horse pull for the Bicentennial year with a $900 purse. An obstacle course, for horses that have not been used for professional pulling, is also planned. The horses will be judged on their performance and strength. There will be trophies for the winners as well as the best teamster. It is a bigger and better fair and one you can't miss.

If you have any news for me to include in my column please call 286-3607. Thank you.

The Thursday card party winners are as follows: lone hands, Eleanor Pye; others were May Spence and Charles Beharrell.

Recent guests of Mr. and Mrs. Milt Sears included Sandra, Rick and Logan Laws and the Paul Warburtons of Scarborough.

That's all for this week. I hope to see you all next week.

Brian Mulroney was only one of the attractions that caused local Conservatives to line up in Kinmount. Here, Allan Bagg of Eagle Lake, along with his son Rick and Major Glynne Lewis, prepare beef on a bun for the hungry Tory crowd.

Kinmount Korner

Congratulations to Larry and Julie Hartin of Haliburton who became proud and happy parents of an eight pound, seven ounce daughter at the Haliburton hospital on Tuesday, August 7. Happy grandparents are Mike and Mary Hartin of Kinmount and Art Parish of Haliburton and not to forget great grandma Bacon.

The annual Kinmount and District Horticultural Flower and Bake Show takes place at the Kinmount Legion Hall, Thursday, August 16 from 3 to 5 p.m. and 7 to 9 p.m. Tea and prize cakes will be served. Admission: Adults $1 and children 25 cents.

The Coboconk Lions Park had a nice crowd of people cooling off in the pond last Wednesday. Were we as brave or daring as some of those young swimmers at that age? I suppose so.

St. James euchre results Tuesday, August 7: ladies high: Nora Crego, ladies low: Joan Taylor, men's high: Ambrose Watson, men's low: Ken Hyams and special note: there were nine tables of players and Connie Williams took her score card home to frame it. She was tops for the evening holding no less than eight lone hands.

Visitors at the home of Mary and John Pyke on Wednesday, August 8 were Marie and Bill Card with their daughter, Christine Bailey and her twin daughters, Janya and Louise, all from Jacksons' Point. Also there were Bonnie Walker and Charlie Ryan of Malton. Don't forget to pick up your Horticultural prize list at Hockley's store in Kinmount if you intend to enter the show.

The pre school Resource Centre welcomes everyone to attend the toy and bookending library to be held at the Kinmount Community Centre on Thursday, August 23 from 11:30 a.m. to 1:30 p.m.

Try these for the kids both young and old alike, they're called "Apple Jacks Bully Busters" 1/2 cup sugar, 1/2 cup dark corn syrup, 1 tspn. salt, 2 tblspn. butter or margarine, 6 1/2 cups Kellogg's Apple Jacks, 1 cup salted peanuts. Combine sugar, syrup, salt and butter in 3 quart saucepan. Cook over moderate heat, stirring frequently, until mixture begins to bubble. Remove from heat; add Apple Jacks and peanuts and stir until well coated. Spread mixture on buttered baking sheet or waxed paper. Separate into bite sized pieces with two forks or buttered fingers. To store, keep in tightly covered container. Yield: about six cups. Note: if desired, warm mixture may be pressed evenly in buttered 13 x 9 x 2 inch pan. Cut into 2 x 1 inch bars. Yield: 54 Apple Jacks Bully Buster Bars, 2 x 1 inch.

Meals on Wheels and Wheels to Meals is doing extremely well, thanks to the few willing, hard workers.

Well folks, stay well and happy, read the Echo, give me a call at 488-2353 and remember: motivation is what gets you started. Habit is what keeps you going.

West Guilford News

Mr. and Mrs. Whit Carr and Mr. and Mrs. Elwood Morrison are attending the wedding in Toronto of Gordon Carr to Susan Randall. The wedding takes place in St. David's Anglican Church. Bert and Louella Bryant, Shirley and Brad Bryant and Ruth Anne Kernohan enjoyed a visit to Fenelon Falls with cousins there last Sunday.

The annual Sisson Reunion was held at St. Andrew's Church on Saturday. Approximately 100 attended. Some of the relatives were from London and Lindsay. The Reverend G. Johnston is still keeper of the ever increasing Sisson names.

Vacation Bible School under the direction of Church Army Sister, Julie Kennedy was held this week in the mornings at St. Andrew's Church. Approximately 20 children were enrolled and assistance was given by Alison Sisson, Nora Morrison and Leslie and Valerie Chumbley.

You probably thought the white house was the home of the president. However, it is not the only one in existence. A white house (without capitals) is on the Lakeside Golf Course property. The house was originally the home of Ken and Wilma Sisson and in the summer it is now the home of summer guests of Sid and Louise Cooper, the Allan Cooper family of Wilfordale, Ontario.

The Brotherhood of Anglican Churches met on Sunday at St. Andrew's Church. Speaker before the service was Dr. Ed. Christiansen. The Ministry of Natural Resources held their annual tournament at the Lakeside Course on Friday.

In September, a meeting will be held to choose a new executive for the Recreation Centre. Anyone interested in being involved is welcome.

Wilberforce News

By WINNIE SCHOFIELD

Next weekend brings the annual Rock Hound Gembo-ree to Wilberforce. The arena will be open for this event on Friday, August 17 at 6 p.m., Saturday 18 from 10 a.m. to 9 p.m. and Sunday, August 19 from 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. Dr. Gorman, known as Digger to his friends, is a noted authority on minerals and rocks and he will be on hand to offer information and help with the identification of your finds. Dr. Gorman is a professor at the University of Toronto.

There will be panning for gold in the arena, tables of displays and opportunities for rock swappers. You will see some of the rocks carved and polished and made into attractive ornaments. A good crowd is expected, among them many from the U.S. Exhibitors come from many sections of the country.

If you are interested in the field trips, be at the curling rink on Saturday and Sunday mornings at 10 a.m. Be there on time, and good hunting.

In conjunction with the Rock Hound fair, the Ladies' Auxiliary of Branch 624 Wilberforce will be preparing and serving a roast beef dinner from 5:30 to 7 p.m. on Saturday, August 18 at the Legion Hall. This is a must for everyone who appreciates good food. Dinner will be topped off with that famous Legion pie. Dinner will be $6 for adults, $3 for children and free for preschoolers.

Saturday morning began with rain that turned to drizzle and finally tapered off to a fine mist as hundreds of people gathered in the big park in Kinmount to welcome Brian and Mila Mulroney. People began arriving at 11:00, bringing their chairs to be set up under the soaring pine trees. Everyone appeared cheerful and expectant despite the clouds. In this crowd of party faithful could be seen a scattering of familiar faces from Wilberforce. They wait was long but the crowd was patient and the hum of conversation was constant. People refused to acknowledge the threat of rain. Umbrellas shot up when an occasional heavy drip penetrated the overhanging pine branches. Finally, the air cleared a little. Bill Scott must have ordered this for the moment when the honoured guests would arrive.

People stood to welcome Mulroney as he appeared, driving a fine pair of horses with Bill Scott beside him and their wives and escorts seated in the wagon.

They dismounted and made their way to the platform, stopping to shake the outstretched hands on the way and facing a number of cameras. The speeches were brief, but contained what the people wanted to hear. Bill Scott was in good voice and must have been pleased with the good turnout. Later, the Mulroneys once again mixed with the crowd. Mila, wearing a simple yellow blouse and blue pants, was kept busy shaking hands. She was especially attentive to children.

With the exit of the guests, everyone had a craving for food. The aroma of the roast beef being prepared by chef Jim Deterling hung in the air in the most tantalizing way and made the long wait in the line up for dinner almost unbearable. The reward was sufficient to banish the annoyance as we watched Shirley Deterling manipulate the slicing machine and the very thin, tender pieces of barbecued beef fall from the knife and be transferred to the waiting bun. Coleslaw, beans, butter tarts and hot coffee made a welcome feast to be eaten under the pines. The rain held off until we were half way home, then down it came in a torrent. Not a bad day for a rally.

In the garden, long-stemmed orange lilies are in bloom. The blossoms are very large and have attracted the attention of a pair of hummingbirds who buzz from flower to flower, pausing at intervals to rest on a stem or perch on the clothes line overhead. These are juvenile birds who must come from a nest close by. Their song is a one note cheep made while on the wing. I have never seen a hummingbird's nest, but it is said to be the size of a thimble. I hope that one day I will be lucky and come across one of these nests.

During the month of July the township beach at Wilberforce Lake was a very busy spot. The Monmouth Red Cross swimming programme had 80 children registered for lessons. Some 52 of these children received crests for achievement. The youngest members enrolled were in the yellow group. These 22 were divided into three smaller classes. All those attending showed great enthusiasm and put forth a great deal of effort during their training. Not only children enjoyed the water. Four adults also got into the swim of things. Like the little ones, they were afraid to get their faces wet and nervous about venturing into deep water, but by the end of the month they were doing rolls and swimming around the buoy line. They were certainly surprised and well pleased with their achievements.

Things wrapped up with a fun day of games, treats, and a fire to cook lunch on. Many thanks to our popular swimming instructor, Jo Anne Coumbs and her assistant Melanie Rutter.

Show brings talent

By Kelly Graham

Saturday, August 4 was bright and sunny, perfect weather for Norland's first annual talent show. Ward Memorial Park was the scene for spectators and contestants who vied for prizes of $50, $25 and $15. Competitions were held in singing, fiddling, baking, crafts, and painting. Winners were as follows: Singing (adult) first, Roger Gill, second, Scott Gartshore, third, Roy Robertson. Child - first, Shon Beisel, second, Jenny Lynn Robichaud, third, Gavin Gartshore. Fiddling First, Dorothy Brown, second, Joe Pearson. Baking (cakes) first, Inga Wassel, second, Thelma Adams, third, Dawn Gostlin. Bread - first, Ivy Boyce, squares and cookies - first, Thelma Adams.

Competitions in crafts and painting were also held. In these competitions the public voted to decide the winner. Unfortunately, I do not have the results.

All in all it was a fun day for everyone. The Ladies Auxiliary hope to make it a yearly event and, of course, we all hope next year it will be held in our new recreation hall.

This boy took a few moments to dry off on the dock at Rotary Beach last week following the Red Cross swimming lessons held there during the month of August.

Norland Natter

By KELLY GRAHAM

As summer draws to a close, the long days seem to get hotter and hotter. For those of you who are patiently tolerating these stifling days, don't forget about our public beach located just down Shadow Lake Road 1.

Congratulations to Harriet Millyard of Coboconk. Millyard has been nominated for a Bicentennial medal. Her nomination was earned through 57 years of commendable service to her community and the people around her. One of her most admirable achievements was to help raise $20,000 in bonds when the Gull River Veneer Company burnt in the late 1950's.

I trust many local residents enjoyed the recent beef barbecue in Kinmount. The barbecue allowed many people to meet Conservative Party leader Brian Mulroney. On Wednesday, August 8, our local council held a special meeting to establish work committees for the new recreation centre. So far, Mr. P.M. Valentine has been hired as a consultant engineer.

If you have a yen for the good ole' days, be sure to visit Coboconk on August 18, Pioneer Day. The day includes a schedule of pioneer games at the Lion's Hall Park. Prizes of up to $250 will be awarded. Events include, several different types of races, nail pounding and log sawing. Free hay rides will be given. Hamburgers will sell for 50 cents and only 30 cents will get you a hot dog. Cold drinks and donuts will also be available at extra low prices.

Congratulations to Darrell and Ruth Leckie, formerly Epps, who have a newborn son, Benjamin Darrell. Ruth is a former Norland resident, daughter of Francie Hartwick of Fenelon, and Frances Gunn, of Norland.

Gooderham News

By MARY HADLEY

Nellie McColl is progressing favourably in Peterborough Civic Hospital following surgery. I trust she will continue to improve and soon be able to return to her home and enjoy good health again.

Visitors of Hazel and Ken Bell are Hazel's two sisters, Helen Chapman of Hamilton and Evelyn Stubbart of Toronto.

Bob and Nancy Vernon of Cardinal with their two children, Melissa and Jonathan are visiting Julie and Larry Hunter. They are renewing former acquaintances made when Bob was a pastor at the Pentecostal church here.

There was a good attendance in the United Church basement last Thursday evening for a bridal shower for Kim Travis, daughter of Irene and Barney Travis.

The church was decorated for this occasion. Kim thanked the guests for the many gifts she received.

Judy MacDuff underwent surgery on her arm last week. She had been suffering from a "tennis elbow". We hope it is soon back to normal. School will be starting soon and Judy will be sorely missed there as her arm prevents her from her duties there.

The U.C.W. met at the summer home of Marion James last Monday afternoon. Thirteen ladies and our minister, Maurice Bradley, were present.

Jean Goff, president, led in a devotional period, after which Helen McMullen spoke to the group. Upon retirement from teaching in Toronto, Helen entered Waterloo University where she received her Bachelor of Arts degree. She then continued her studies at Simon Fraser University in Gerontology which helped her to understand the process of "aging". She is prepared to undertake work with the underprivileged of Vancouver. She expects to return to B.C. where the Mennonite Churches are planning to enter into inner city involvement in downtown Vancouver.

Last Tuesday evening at the school, there were enough players for four tables of bridge. Prizes were awarded as follows: 1st - Doug Hughes, 2nd - Faye Silver, Consolation - Ursula Dymott. Lunch was provided by Faye Silver.

Visitors with Vivian and Tommy Dovell recently were Willie and Olive White and Ross and Myrtle Alsop with their daughter, Shirley Nottingham.

The Red Cross Swimming Course under the instruction of Joanne Coumbs is being given to 30 children at the public beach. Melanie Dewe is beach assistant. She and Robin McCausland are taking the Leaders' course and can then qualify as instructors. The lessons conclude August 24 after five weeks. Five ladies are availing themselves of the opportunity of taking these lessons each day from 1 to 1:30 p.m.

We are sorry to report that Bob Fotheringham is a patient in the Peterborough Civic Hospital. I trust he may soon feel more comfortable.

Congratulations to Marg and Doug Bates on the safe arrival of their 8 lb. 13 oz. son, Thomas Douglas Nelson, who was born early Sunday morning at the Civic Hospital in Peterborough.

Tressa Mason is visiting Mae Pickens. The two are former school mates and along with Lulu Dovell, they are enjoying reminiscing.

June Tousignant has returned to Hamilton after visiting her sister, Margaret Pickens.

Waterway News

On Tuesday, August 7 the Haliburton Lakes of the Trent-Severn contained 80.6% of their maximum storage, still about 8% above the long term average.

Last week's high evaporation losses have been reduced by the very humid weather, and the rain on August 6 and 7. The Kawartha Lakes rose several centimetres, some to above their navigation maximums. This week the draw from the reservoirs has been reduced, and the Otonabee River flows have been increased.

Dorset News

By PHYLLIS BRISCOE
Happiness is like a butterfly, which, if pursued, is always just beyond your grasp, but which, if you will sit down quietly, will probably light upon you.

The middle of August and the summer is slipping by, but there are still great numbers of holidaying visitors in our midst. The lake is very active with motor boats, sail boats, wind surfers and water skiers. The lake water is very warm and jumping in to be refreshed is very popular during the hot humid days.

The regattas must surely be at an end for this year as there has been one almost every week either on Lake of Bays or on one of the neighbouring lakes. The annual Anglican regatta which has been held for over 50 years was held at Lumina Lodge this year, alternating with three other lodges each year, and once again was a great success. I'm sure there are other spots to equal it but I don't think that any can surpass Lumina as a beauty spot on Lake of Bays and an ideal setting for a regatta.

The Toronto Exhibition will be in full swing before long and will lure some Torontonians back to the city, no doubt, as some people just have to visit the "Ex" each year if only for a day. I guess I'm just a country girl as I would much rather stay beside the clear, cool water of Lake of Bays than contend with the heat and confusion of the city at this time of year, Ex or no Ex.

Hazel Sears spent two weeks visiting her sister, Vera Sarginson at Bethany, Ontario. While there, she attended a reunion of former students of Omemee High School. Approximately 600 attended the event who were entertained at the Omemee Curling Rink, where they ate a meal, visited and reminisced about old times. The high school was in operation for 99 years, closing its doors in 1957. Needless to say the outing was much enjoyed. Since returning home Mrs. Sears has been entertaining her family, mostly from Milton. Daughter Norma and husband Harold Lovegrove, granddaughters Angela and Penny McKay, Nancy and Tom Davenport and son Timmy, Brenda and Fred Scardina and three children and son Billy from Mississauga.

Visitors from Blind River at the home of Blanche and Harry Clayton are Willie VanRoon, her sons Michael and Eric and their friend Mackey. The boys have been tenting and enjoying a real outdoor holiday.

Ted and Gloria Morris and daughter Jennifer have returned from a trip to Fort McMurray, Alberta, where they visited daughter Bonnie and her husband John Leslie. While on their trip, they visited Banff, Lake Louise and Jasper National Park, taking in the ice fields and all the spots of interest along the way.

The first Raven Lake Regatta was held on Sunday, August 5. The Property Owners' Association plan on making it an annual event. Raven Lake is situated three miles south of Dorset on Highway 35. I apologize for any errors in spelling but I had to do a great deal of deciphering to figure out names from the copy I had. We congratulate the Association for their efforts and wish them good luck in future years.

H.H. If you find out at the last minute that you have run out of your favourite commercial fabric softener when you are doing your laundry, don't be dismayed. Use a cup of white vinegar in the final rinse water and you will find that it softens and also brightens your clothes.

Coboconk News

Sincere sympathy goes out to Dick and Mary Taylor of Albert Street in the loss of a dear grandson, Martin O'Flaherty who died very suddenly in Etobicoke on Tuesday, August 7. Marty was well known here, having spent a lot of time with his grandparents and having worked at the local store. He was buried in Coboconk cemetery.

A post card from Lena Baker (nee Otto) mailed in Athens, Greece on July 29, says she is having a great holiday and that the weather is hot. She is going on to Egypt, Turkey, Israel and Rhodes and will be back in Toronto by August 13. This is her second time in that part of the world. I had post cards from her when she was there three or four years ago.

Remember to come out and be part of Pioneer Days on Saturday, August 18. Beginning at noon, there will be pioneer games at the Lions Club Park. There will be lots of prizes, lots of races, free hay rides and a voyageur canoe landing. For the afternoon only, there will be low prices on hamburgers, hot dogs and cold gers, hot dogs, cold drinks and donuts. Seamstresses have been busy sewing up really old style costumes.

Harriet Millyard has been back at her home for a while after spending many months in Carescent Care Nursing Home. Reeve E. Cameron has nominated Harriet for a Bicentennial Medal. Certainly, she always had the welfare of Coboconk as her number one priority and its residents are dear to her heart. Now that the years have caught up to her, she is unable to be active, to "take the bull by the horns" and make sure things get done.

but she still has a deep interest. When Harriet was younger, she and the late Bertha Caton worked endlessly for the Horticulture Society, planting and caring for a number of flower beds in our local cemetery. When there is no one to push an issue, things slide and these two great ladies are no longer a vital force. Perhaps someone will step in and insist certain things be done. I for one, agree Harriet should be recognized for her staunch support of our village.

Marilyn Rutter of Scarborough was a weekend visitor with her grandmother, Mrs. Ruth Rutter.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Brecht of Scarborough were visitors of Ross and Myrtle Faulkner last week.

Carolyn Brown and a friend, both of Stouffville, visited Ruth Fralick and Clara on Thursday.

Ron Medevit and family of Toronto were weekend visitors of Ruth and Clara.

Olive Demoe of Port Hope spent some time with son Paul, his wife and family on Grandy Road.

Enda Pearce became ill in Oshawa recently and spent some time in hospital there. She is now recovering at home.

Also, Ben Farrow has been sick with pneumonia. I hope you get well soon too, Ben.

Mr. and Mrs. Everett Fountain of Norland and Mrs. Iris Moore of Cameron were visitors of Charlie and Gladys Routley last week-end.

Winners in the seniors' card games are as follows: Euchre - first, Myrtle Lucas, 75; second, Evelyn Manley, 68; lone hands, Annie Watson, 3; consolation, Greta Reeds, 41. Gents' first, Isaac Lucas, 82; second, Howard Stewart, 76; lone hands, Howard Stewart, 7; consolation, Marjorie Fountain, 37. Bridge - first, Pat Corneilous, 4940; second, Marion Holland, 4940; consolation, Marion Sims, 460. Baddow United Church services combine with Coboconk United services here for this month.

Mrs. Bob Fletcher spent a couple of days in Toronto where she attended a stork shower for Mr. and Mrs. Bobby Fletcher.

Our thoughts and prayers go out to Mr. and Mrs. Brock Laws of the Mill Pond, whose son Brook was injured in a motorcycle accident on the long weekend. He is presently in Sunnybrook Hospital with multiple injuries.

Guests with the Stan Archers were Mr. and Mrs. Penwright of Guelph.

Spending the long weekend with the Jack Gregorys and their Scottish guests, the Westwaters, were Mr. and Mrs. Fred Gregory of Ottawa and their daughter from Australia. The Westwaters went on the 30,000 Islands cruise one day last week and accompanied the Gregorys on a sightseeing trip to Midland and Huronia Village. They left for their home in Kirkcaldy, Fife on Wednesday.

Staying with the O'Reillys are Mr. and Mrs. Ken Farrell and daughters, of Barrie.

A very successful dinner was held in the Christian Education Building when the ladies put on their annual summer hot roast beef dinner. All three settings were sold out. Thanks to the many people who came as well as the ladies and men who worked so hard to make it so successful.

Mr. and Mrs. Ray McDonald of Australia spent last week with Mr. and Mrs. Cliff Archer at their cottage on Boskung, before leaving on Wednesday for a tour of the United States. They will go on to Hawaii for a stay before continuing on to Australia. Mrs. Archer and Mrs. McDonald are sisters.

Irene Minaker, Mr. and Mrs. Richie Gilmour and Mr. and Mrs. Harry Gilmour spent some time at the Minaker homestead last week.

I enjoyed the Lake Boskung Association regatta last weekend. It was a beautiful day with lots of water activity. There was something for all age groups. It was held once again at the beaches of the Matabanik.

Pearl and Jim Foster held a family reunion and picnic at their home on Twelve Mile Lake during the holiday weekend.

Max and Anne McKay were weekend guests of Mr. and Mrs. Stan Archer at their cottage on Redstone Lake.

Mr. and Mrs. Marion Thomas of Sturgeon Falls visited with relatives in the area last week.

Miseries of the wakeful parent, nobody's fault

By CATHARINE TOZER,
Infant Development
Consultant

The books all say that your baby will sleep through the night at the magic age of three months. But it's been months since then and still your baby wakes every night. Everyone offers advice on how to make your baby sleep through, and you've tried the tricks hoping tonight will be night you get the luxury of five or six uninterrupted hours of sleep. When you've tried everything and nothing works, it's time to accept the fact that you've got a "wakeful baby".

Not enough has been written in support of the parents of these babies. Wakeful parents, of which I am one, aren't usually aware of the number of other parents who share their misery and common problems.

There's a tremendous variation in babies' sleeping patterns but most babies, do, indeed, sleep through the night by three months. Studies show that about 70% sleep through at least five hours every night by three months of age and 90% do by one year. What about the other 10-30% - that's a lot of wakeful babies!

Waking up anywhere from "only" once a night to five or six times (or more) every night is extremely debilitating. Researchers are just beginning to learn about the effects of interrupted sleep over a prolonged period of time. Being awakened during the night can throw off the body's biological rhythm, just like jet lag. It's not just lack of sleep, but the disruption of the entire sleep pattern that can cause exhaustion, depression, irritability and indecisiveness. Even snatching naps during the day won't make up for the loss of deep sleep you'd normally get after hours of sleep.

For the parents of wakeful babies there seems to be nothing that helps the baby sleep through an entire night. Another wakeful parent, author Jeannie Blevins (Great Expectations, Autumn, 1982) tried more activity in the evening (to tire out her wakeful daughter), less activity in the evening (to calm her down), lots of fresh air, extra feedings to fill her up, water instead of milk at 2 a.m. and Dad getting up with the baby instead of Mom. Nothing worked.

A bath before bed may also have a calming effect. Soundproofing the baby's sleeping area in an effort to minimize anything that might awaken him in his lighter sleep stages may help. Taking the baby into bed with Mom and Dad may improve everybody's sleep, or it may mean the baby wakes up even more often.

Perhaps the most common suggestion is to let the baby "cry it out" - close the door and don't go back no matter how distressed the baby gets or how long he cries. It's the last resort that most desperate parents eventually try. Sometimes it works, and it's worth it. Most of the time it doesn't.

The unspoken criticism of other people is the most difficult to tolerate. Why is it that only parents of non-wakeful babies offer advice on how to make your baby sleep through the night? Getting up with the baby seems absurd to parents of sleep-through babies - "There must be something the mother is doing wrong. She must be allowing her baby to sleep too much during the day. She's spoiling that child. They'll just have to be firm, show him who's boss, don't let him wrap them around his finger". Have these people ever lain in bed listening to their baby cry agonizingly for an hour? Don't they think wakeful parents have tried all those cures for night-waking? Spoiling the baby by responding to him, and "allowing" him to awaken have nothing to do with it. A baby is simply wakeful or he's not. And a grouchy, under-rested parent is not in a position to accept well-meaning advice graciously when she has heard (and tried) it all before!

Coping with Wakefulness
So how can you survive the wakeful baby? There are some ways to alleviate the situation, try them. If they don't work, at least you've tried. Accepting the fact that your child is wakeful is the first step in coping. Stop expecting that tonight will be the night that the baby sleeps through. After you've tried the "cures" for night-waking, accept the fact that your child is wakeful by nature. It's nothing you have done or haven't done. And it's not the baby's fault either. He's not doing it to drive you mad, no matter how old he is.

Fathers need to accept the wakeful nature of the baby too, otherwise the resentment is directed toward the mother. Wakefulness will divide the family if one parent shoulders the responsibility as well as the sleepless nights.

Establish as regular sleep schedule as possible within the constraints of the situation. Take turns sleeping on weekends. Take turns sleeping at someone else's house without the baby occasionally. Don't neglect your meals even if you're too tired to cook most days; you have to get some energy from somewhere.

Wakefulness may last anywhere from a few weeks to a few years. Keep the child's night routine carefully every evening to help him anticipate that it's time to sleep. Wakeful babies at night may be just as wakeful by day too, taking fewer naps or none at all. The only real comfort is that babies who spend less time asleep spend more time learning. Wakeful babies grow into children who may be more accelerated in various aspects of their development.

Take heart from the fact that wakeful babies are not so unusual. There are other sleepy, irritable parents out there. Find one to lend a sympathetic ear and to help keep your sense of humour awake.

Truckers buckle up

Ministry of Transportation and Communications highway carrier and vehicle inspectors are enforcing seat belt usage and maintenance of assembly installation, said Transportation and Communications Minister James Snow.

Until now, there has been inadequate highway enforcement of the seat belt legislation for trucks because cabs of large trucks are too high for police to see into from their cruisers.

Dr. Robert Uffen recommended seat belt enforcement in his Report of the Ontario Commission on Truck Safety and MTC inspectors will check seat belt usage and assemblies as part of the ministry's safety program.

Statistics show that truck drivers who are thrown from their cabs are four times more likely to be fatally injured than those kept in their seats. Even if drivers are not thrown from their vehicles, they may be seriously injured by being tossed around inside the cab. An estimated 97 per cent of all fatally injured truckers were not wearing seat belts.

Truck drivers who do not buckle up may be fined $40 to $200 and both driver and owner may be charged if the belts or assemblies fail to meet requirements under the Highway Traffic Act.

By BERT HARRISON
Well readers, the long holiday is almost over and its been so blooming hot, I just don't know if I should start to write, or if I should not.

There has been quite a lot of activity here at Hyland Crest. Some residents went out, others had special guests. By the way, the girls that live next door to me have company every day.

Some weekends, we have a lady in the office. Her name is Heidi. She does a really good job, keeps things nice and tidy. Some nights we have Cheryl Dillon, now here's a girl who is always willing. We also have faithful Ada Lewis. She keeps everything neat is always cheerful with us.

Tuesday morning a very impressive community service was held in the chapel by Reverend George Elliott of Minden Anglican Church, with the help of his assistant Debbie Vaughan. This is Debbie's last service here, then she'll be gone. She is leaving Minden with the deepest regret. When we think of her going our eyes get all wet. She has so much energy, and enjoys life. To her husband she'll be a really good wife. Where ever life takes you, what ever you do, may God's rich blessing lie upon you.

Edith Welch is not too well and as I write this letter we are hoping she will soon feel better.

Jack Shaw is back from a few days holiday. Some of our cleaners filled in for him while he was away.

This week is a critical time for the Reverend John Burgess and his family. John's mother is having a serious operation and she is 93. It is the hope from all here at Hyland Crest that she will come through it bravely and be truly blessed.

The movies shown Tuesday afternoon were very interesting, I declare. They were "Right to the Top", Calgary Zoo and Park". You should have been there.

Tuesday night there came to Hyland Crest Gordon Haughton, Murray and Shirley Davis were our special guests. They played and sang so nice. Thanks for a job well done. Murray can really play that accordion.

Wednesday at noon, just outside our back door, we had our first barbecue of the year, with hamburgers, hot dogs, soft drinks, ice cream, but not any beer.

Wednesday night Earl Cooper came, along with his dear son. Cathy Owens also came with her accordion. They played fine music for us again.

Ron Welch and wife Pat came from Frankford to visit his mother, Edith. They also stayed to dine with his mother and Aunt Caroline.

Annie Cox's family is good to her, and by the way, some of them came to visit her almost every day.

Mrs. Stutt's daughter, Ruth has returned from a trip to Germany and Switzerland. She said the holiday and scenery were simply grand.

Thursday afternoon the ladies from Kennis Lake, all the way to Hyland Crest, brought along a delicious lunch and were our special guests. One of the ladies was Doris McCann, head of the Home Support program. We also had a gentleman, Jim Wilkinson, head of the Kennis Lake Tourist Association. Thank you all for a job well done.

Thursday night, members of the Minden Anglican Church choir came. They played for us and entertained us fine. Thank you for coming and giving us some of your time.

Friday afternoon Eldon Deacon came to drive the Hyland Crest bus to take all who wanted to go over to the community centre to see the flower show. They said it was just fine. They were served soft drinks, and had a jolly time.

Friday night, Ray and Margerie Usher came and brought along their guests. Ray is a fine piano player and always give us his best. They led us in a sing along, which gave us all a thrill, like the birds on tree tops on Mockinbird Hill.

Writers' Corner

Midnight in Summer

How dark the sky.
There is no moon tonight.
The light
Of stars shines dimly from on high.

How hushed and still.
There is no hint of breeze.
The trees
Hang motionless, where is the whippoorwill?

Silence around.
A moth on noiseless wings
Murmurings
Of sleepy birds the only sound.

Sweet perfumed air
And all the garden redolent
With scent
Of mignonette and roses everywhere.

And you and I
By now should long be gone to bed.
Instead
Lingering in lounging chairs we lie.

Enchanted by the night in deep enthrall
There are no words the clasped hands tell it all.

Did you know...that our office has information available on excellent correspondence courses provided free of charge by the Ontario Department of Education?

Now that autumn is approaching, some of you may be thinking of upgrading your educational background. If you are unable to take advantage of the night courses given by our local school board or Sir Sandford Fleming College, we would be happy to provide the necessary information needed for you to enroll in a correspondence course.

It takes about four hours a week on your own time to do a lesson - the only cost to you is the postage to send your lesson in to your teacher who marks it and returns the corrected work. Education is so important for all of us, regardless of one's age.

There are now some excellent family education courses available during August at the Leslie M. Frost Centre in Dorset. For further information on these and other programs, why not drop in to your County Information Centre or give us a call at 457-2733. We are located in the Drag River Municipal Building (across from Emerson Lumber) in Haliburton and are open Monday through Friday, 10:00 a.m. to 4:00 p.m.

Do take advantage of all the resources this community has to offer and remember, you will never know the answer until you ask the question.

liked the neighbourliness and working together. "People," she said, "need to give and need ways for that to happen in a meaningful way. People need direct involvement. We become more human and caring when we care for someone else in a reciprocal way. Anything which encourages community building is important. The professionals are important but keep in mind always the value of neighbourliness."
